Thanks to whoever shared the artwork they had from Kyuuchan.

Also, someone in the last thread asked where Tomcat went, and although I don't know, here is a link to some of the work they did:

Well I find that hard to believe considering it was updated today, January 13, at 6:20 AM. A whole 3 days after you posted that

As it's maintainer I can say that it is still updated, but with limitations, so the neocities version is the preferred one. Most notably, on neocities we don't have to cut the page to fit in 64 kiB.

The one in OP has a post at the top saying " Note: Neocities-hosted version of this page shows more records if there are too many of them, as it is not affected by the 64K size limit enforced by htmlhouse."

Then links to the other one posted. It flat out says that it's the inferior version.

Any news on TomCat? i don't think he's returning, he's been gone for 6 months now, i believe.

His twitter is gone, website gone, pretty much everything about him is gone. as of PERROs, Kai's twitter is still up, was dead for a while, returned in december but is silent as well. PERROs website is still up
